Weaver Words 2025

Frodsham's seventh literature festival, was hailed a 'great success', after delivering nine days of fantastic events, speakers, writing workshops and a Pop-up Poetry Wall at Frodsham Community Centre.

Headline acts, poet Lemn Sissay, comedian Jennyclair, BBC presenter Louise Minchin and an Elizabeth Gaskell afternoon tea all proved immensely popular.

Actor Gerald Dickens, the great, great grandson of writer Charles Dickens, performed a witty, fast-paced one-man show of Nicholas Nickleby.

A series of seminars explored a diverse range of topics, from Cheshire country diarist A.W.Boyd by Andy Jurgis, to the importance of punctuation by Bronte expert Sharon Wright.

Festival manager Lynn Pegler said: "Hundreds of people have enjoyed fabulous, thought-provoking and enjoyable speakers, plays and workshops. The festival featured more than 20 events, two popular writing competitions.

Many thanks to sponsors: RSK (Helsby), Encirc glass, Main Street Kitchen, Rotary and Bill Holroyd.
